Renaissance Man

Franklin Campbell, known as Franklin to his friends, is a renaissance man of chess. If you chess surf the web at all, you are bound to run across this man's influence. Franklin's "The Campbell Report," started in the APCT News Bulletin in 1989 and moved to a website - www.correspondence chess.com/campbell in 1998, is one of the main sources for correspondence chess news. "The Campbell Report" received the 2004 Chess Journalists of America's Award for the "Best CC Web Site." Franklin has served as webmaster for APCT, CJA, ICCF Congresses, and ICCF/US (for which he received the ICCF 2003 "Friend of ICCF" Award).

Franklin believes chess provides immense pleasure and satisfaction and so he encourages people to give back to chess by finding positive ways to contribute to the chess community. He suggests being an officer in your local chess club, teaching chess in your local school chess club, setting up a website, or annotating your games for your favorite chess publication.

J. Franklin Campbell

Franklin served as a match photographer for the 1985 Alburt-Short match. He served as a judge for the annual CJA journalist awards. He has directed tournaments for the NAPZ Zone of the ICCF. And now J. Franklin Campbell has been awarded the title of International Arbiter by the ICCF Congress at Mumbai.

Congratulations, Franklin!

GAME OF THE MONTH

Not only is Campbell multi-faceted off the chess board, he shows high carats on the board, too.

For those not familiar with webchess, it is the latest form of correspondence chess. Most readers are familiar with internet chess: a board appears on the screen, your chess clock begins ticking, a move is made with a mouse or keyboard, and the move appears on the screen for your opponent's turn. Webchess uses the same procedures except the clock keeps time in cc time (days, hours, minutes and seconds) you have room to write messages to your opponent, and after you make your move, a new board appears with the move on it that you must confirm. Then the move is sent to your opponent. Bookkeeping and recording errors are thus kept to a minimum. It is the future of cc chess, and I hope the USCF will soon make it available on its website.

- "I believe that due to the opportunity to use computers, Correspondence Chess has risen to a new, higher qualitative level, but the person continues to play the main role" Mikhail Umansky, 13th World Correspondence Champion.
- If it is said a draw is like kissing your sister, what can be said of a draw like this one?

POSTAL BEAUTY CONTEST

Is it right that beauty is so often only its own reward? Surely not! And thanks to the generosity of Dr. Ronald Hames, the scales of justice have become more evenly balanced between how one wins and the hard fact of victory. For now in Chess Life the players who conduct scintillating games will receive the Hames Correspondence Game of the Year Awards.

Resident postal editor Alex Dunne is the judge of a contest with prizes of $100 for the best game by a master and $100 for the best game by a non-master to appear in Check is in the Mail during a given year. What better reason, then, to send your postal brilliancies to Alex Dunne?

You are invited to send me your comments, questions and correspondence games (with or without annotation). Because of the volume of mail, submis-sions cannot be returned, and personal replies are not possible.

For Correspondence Chess game results, time complaints, vacation notices, etc., mail them to: Alex Dunne, PO Box 367, Sayre, PA 18840 or e-mail: alex.dunne@cqservices.com

For Correspondence Chess tournament entries, these MUST be mailed to: Joan DuBois, USCF, PO Box 3967, Crossville, TN 38557.
